[REDACTED] TRAVEL Called John Goldsmith, staff of the Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee, Senate Armed Services Committee, to advise him that the person he wanted to meet with in the field was out of town, but his Deputy was available. Goldsmith said he would like to meet with the Deputy and also would like to join a visit to the "upcountry" area which is being planned for the time he is in that area. I told Goldsmith that we would get a message to the Deputy and try to arrange a suitable time.

It is an open message which is giving the itinerary and says that further communication will come from "another Government agency." I told Widicus that I had some problem with that phrase. I suggested that it be changed to something like, "schedules to be arranged upon arrival." Widicus agreed to this.

4. [ ] ADMINISTRATIVE DELIVERIES

I dropped off a copy of a transcript of [ ] DDO, testimony at Pat M. Holt's, Chief of Staff, Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, office. I also dropped a blind memo on Multi-Spectral Scanning at the office of George R. Berdes, on the staff of the Subcommittee on International Security & Scientific Affairs, House Committee on International Relations.

5. [ ] INTEL BRIEFING - ANGOLA Charles

Snodgrass, House Appropriations Committee staff, referred to a New York Times article indicating that the United States Government might have raised the ante prior to U.S.S.R. major intervention. He said this conflicted with Agency testimony before his committee. He wanted an explanation and I said I would check. He also hoped to come out to the Agency (27, 28 or 29 December) for a day with the NIO's. He wanted to start with George Carver and then chat with each NIO available. He was more interested in substance than how the NIO system works. He wanted a bit more time with the NIO's covering Thailand, Indonesia and [ ] since he will be going to these places in January. After checking with George Carver, we determined that the timing was bad. I called Snodgrass back and he agreed to fit in the briefing sometime after he got back from his EA trip in late January 1976.
